

What kind of shelf do I have?

Determining the manufacturer of your fixtures can be like solving a puzzle with many pieces. You should check the most obvious first:

- Are any of the components stamped with a manufacturer name or part number?
- Do you have any original paperwork which might provide clues to the brand?
- If you bought used fixtures, do you know from which retailer you purchased?

Specs and dimensions:

- What is the on-center slotting measurement of the standard?
- Are the end standards single-slotted or double-slotted?
- What is the usable space dimension of your shelves or deck?
- Do the decks and shelves have round or diamond shaped perfs?

Take photos of the entire fixture from the front and side.
Include close-up photos of the following features:

- Standard slotting (with a tape measure alongside it to show scale)
- Shelf brackets (where they insert into the standard)
- Base brackets (the piece that inserts into the standard and supports the deck).

Contact Midwest Retail Services with the information above and we can help you finish identifying your fixture.
